

Operational Intelligence & Training

Background

Titania possesses superior capabilities and competencies delivering world-class operational intelligence and training support. Titania is critically involved in designing, developing, and integrating training events and solutions in support of the U.S. Army Intelligence Center of Excellence (USAICoE), Training & Doctrine Command's (TRADOC) G2, and Army units in garrison. Titania's Subject Matter Experts (SMEs) and software engineers deliver exceptional research, study, analysis, development, and integration of products encompassing the training information infrastructure, materials, services, and facilities to enable training that develops and sustains Soldier and Leader competence across all training domains. Our experienced SMEs include: professionals with international, joint, and coalition experience; specialized SMEs from academia; nationally published Cyber experts; skilled analysts; and combat arms experts. We deliver a unique combination of distinctive and valuable knowledge and skills. Titania's training cadre provide a flexible application of industry best practice and Department of Defense (DoD) instructional methodology using government approved instructional systems design models, automated tools, and a variety of Learning Management Systems. Our approach identifies strengths and weaknesses resulting in clear courses of action for sustained training success. Titania provides supported elements of DoD and the Intelligence Community with quality instruction and an agile ability to adapt to rapid changes in educational approaches while continuing to meet the needs for developing and sustaining highly competent, resilient, and adaptive DoD intelligence professionals.
